

Board Membership Criteria

The Institute board selects members based on their experience, ability and commitment to the purposes of the Institute

Like most boards, the Institute board is concerned about having a balanced board membership. The board seeks geographic, ethnic and gender diversity; it also seeks a diversity of perspective, including background in local government service (county and city), as well as professional diversity (finance, law, communications/marketing, business and academic).

Fundraising abilities are also highly valued, especially as the Institute endeavors to grow its endowment for long-term financial stability and support.

Permanent Members and Liaisons

Two seats on the board are reserved for the executive directors of the League and CSAC.

The board includes two League/CSAC board liaison members. They help maintain open lines of communication between the Institute and the League and CSAC boards. Liaisons with the League city managers department and the county administrators organization help maintain open lines of communication between the Institute and those groups.
