

Sustainable Communities Learning Network

Featured Resource

Draft California Climate Change Adaptation Policy Guide

The California Natural Resources Agency, California Emergency Management Agency and California Polytechnic State University - San Luis Obispo (Cal Poly) seek feedback on the newly released draft Adaptation Policy Guide. The Guide provides a method to aid local communities and regional entities in evaluating vulnerability and devising strategies to address climate change impacts.

Feedback is critical for refining the Adaptation Policy Guide to best serve local and regional users. Public comment is open until Monday, May 18, 2012.

Download a copy of the draft guide here.

You are receiving this email because you have expressed interest in sustainability information from the Institute for Local Government. The Institute's Sustainability Program sends out a bi-weekly Sustainable Communities Learning Network update and a quarterly Sustainability News. The update aims to feature relevant resources for local agencies. Questions or suggested content may be directed to sustainability@ca-ilg.org.

About the Learning Network

www.ca-ilg.org/SCLN

The Sustainable Communities Learning Network helps local officials and staff access and share resources and tools that encourage their communities to consider and apply practices that are economically, socially and environmentally sustainable.

The Learning Network is a service for local officials offered by the Institute for Local Government in partnership with the Information Center for the Environment at the University of California, Davis, with support from the Strategic Growth Council and The California Endowment.

